Local services ads are Google's new experiment in advertising. Love them or hate them, they are currently at the very top of search results for a variety of high intent keywords for lawyers.

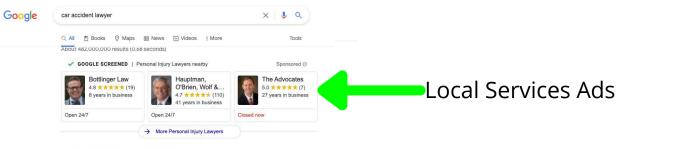

It is too early to tell is Local service ads for lawyers will last, but until they are gone your firm should be in them, if even just as a free listing. Read on for more information on how to set up a profile and how to turn it into a free listing.

WHAT ARE GOOGLE LOCAL SERVICE ADS?

Google local services ads are not new. They started out originally for home services businesses like roofing and electricians. Now they have expanded to include many other service types, the newest kind being the legal vertical.

Google's local services ads are a "pay per call" platform . I put that in quotes on purpose . I will explain in a later section

Google local services ads are basically a hybrid between a paid search ad and a legal directory. All your competitors are in there - there are free listings - but you only get leads if your paying to be in the 3 pack - read on to learn more about the details of how these work.

Why Does Local Matter For Law Firms?

I know its 2021 and Lawyers can now operate nationwide using phones, texts, the internets, zoom and a wide array of other new communication technologies. So why does it matter if your local? Well it does!!! And why? Because Google says so!

Google has the data and they would not have introduced Local services ads for the legal vertical if people were not looking for local lawyers. For whatever reason, people want a lawyer that lives in their town or is close by. I suspect it has something to do with how the law operates in the United States and how courts and jurisdictions across the country operate very differently from town to town. Consumers instinctively know that a local law firm may have connections that a lawyer (although capable) may not have if they live hours away. So basically local matters and Google knows this!

Google will tell you that your placement here is determined by the 3 R's - buts its really what vertical, area and who has the biggest budget to a point.

The 3 R's are: -Radius -Responsiveness -Reviews

While yes the 3 R's are important, there are other factors that more frequently determine if you will be in the 3 pack and they are your business hours and your budget and bid settings.

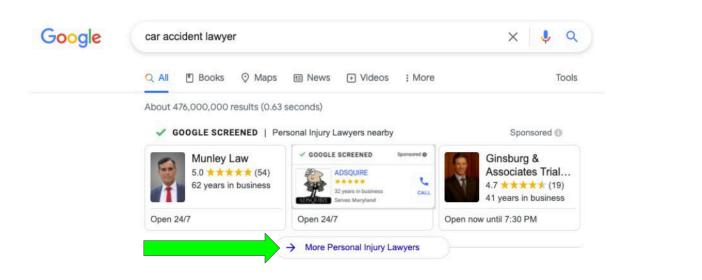

In the 3 pack Google displays :

- The firm name -
- a headshot of the featured attorney,
- your star rating from your Google My Business listing -
- How many years you have been in business
- your hours of operation. (Hint Put 24/7) and you get more leads but you DO need to be able to answer them. If calls go unanswered you will penalized by not showing in the 3 pack as much.

If you click the button that says "More personal Injury Lawyer" You will be taken into the entire directory that will list additional law firms that are not in the 3 pack.

When selecting your practice area or vertical which has a large variety of sub verticals (I will explain) you will also be prompted to click a checkbox to include general lawyer searches.

When I refer to "General Lawyer searches" I mean that these are users who are going to google and doing a search for just the word "Lawyer" or some other variation. Some other variations would be things like: "I need a lawyer", "Lawyers near me", "Lawyer + Town Name" etc.

While selecting this option will generally result in more calls to your firm, they will also be calls that are all over the place in terms of what the user is calling about. If you handle all types of law at your firm, this may be a good option, but if you looking for more specific kinds of cases I would stay away from this option.

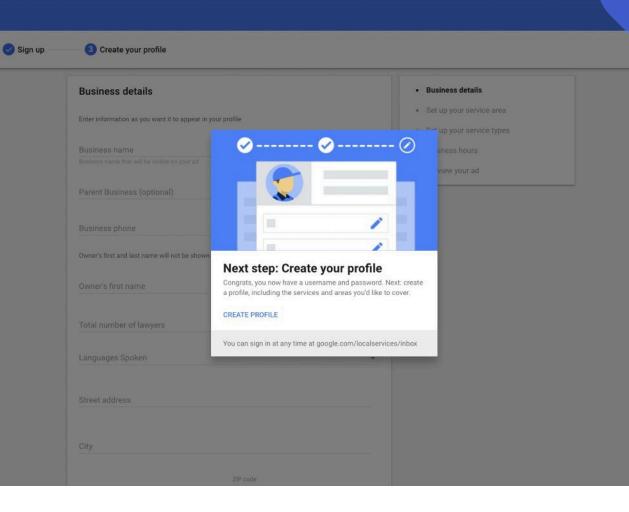

The calls for "General lawyer searches" will generally be cheaper, but again they will be broad and varied calls.

Pro level tip: You need to be mindful that the larger of an area you select to cover, what that does to your budget in terms of how ads will serve. This is also true for the categories you select. The more categories you select and the larger your service area, the faster your budget will be depleted. This has to do with how the Google Ads algorithm works - and Hint -Local Services Ads run on Google's Ads technology (even though it's a different platform)
